

THINGS TO DO IN PORTLAND

Welcome to Portland, Oregon! We are located on the Columbia and Willamette Rivers, in the shadow of snow-capped Mount Hood. Portland is known for its parks, bridges, and bicycle paths, as well as for its eco-friendliness, farm-to-table restaurants, thriving art and music scene, microbreweries, and coffeehouses. With “Keep Portland weird!” as our unofficial slogan, the city is celebrated for its unique, quirky culture. We hope you enjoy your time here!

Portland is divided into five quadrants: Southwest, Southeast, Northeast, Northwest, and North. Each quadrant has a different vibe and types of activities to do in the area.

GETTING AROUND

MAX LIGHT RAIL – MAX trains run about every 15 minutes most of the day, every day. Service is less frequent in the early morning, midday, and evening. $2.50 per single trip or $5.00 for the whole day.

<https://trimet.org/max/index.htm>

PORTLAND STREET CAR – The streetcar runs approximately every 15 minutes on weekdays and Saturdays and every 20 minutes on Sunday. Arrival times are posted on real-time electronic signs at most streetcar stops. $2.00 per single trip.

<https://portlandstreetcar.org>

TRIMET BUS – The TriMet bus, system which covers the city and its suburbs thoroughly, offers low fares, friendly drivers, and full wheelchair accessibility. $2.50 per single trip or $5.00 for the whole day.

<http://trimet.org/bus/index.htm>

BIKETOWN – Portland’s bike-share system. For a small fee (an average of $2.50 for 30 minutes of use), riders can check out bikes at one of the 20 kiosks or via the Biketown website or free smartphone app. When you’re done riding, you can park the bike at any bike rack in the service area or return it to one of the system’s 100 stations and receive a credit.
